

COVID-19 Fifth Wave from a Construction Law Perspective:

Why is Prevention Better than Cure in a Construction Project? A Lesson to be Learned under COVID-19.

18 March 2022 (Fri) 1:00pm – 2:00pm

About the Webinar

Hong Kong has entered the fifth wave of the COVID-19 pandemic. The impact of the coronavirus pandemic on the construction industry is devastating. Issues such as border closures, access restrictions, mandatory quarantine, delays in obtaining government approvals can seriously affect the progress of a construction project. Under these circumstances, what can a contractor do or could have done to minimize or control the impact of the pandemic?

In this webinar, our construction / arbitration Partner, Mr Justin Lo, will share his views on:-

- (1) Available mechanisms for the contractor to recover its losses due to COVID-19 related issues;
- (2) Factors to consider when preparing claim submissions;
- (3) Practical tips in arbitration; and
- (4) Ways to minimize and control risks in a construction project.

-  By Zoom
link to join the seminar online will be sent to the successful registrants
-  Free
-  Cantonese
-  1 Law Society CPD point being applied for (Attendance Certificate will be provided upon request)

Registration Method

Please click here or scan the QR code to fill in online form.

Speaker

Justin LO

Partner

Justin Lo specialises in construction law and arbitration. He has over 10 years of experience advising on contentious and non-contentious matters in major infrastructure projects in Hong Kong, Asia Pacific, UAE and Central America.

He has extensive experience in preparing contracts and advising on risk management strategies in relation to building, engineering and infrastructure projects such as residential and commercial developments, power stations and data centres.

Justin also regularly acted for contractors, consultants and developers in complex construction disputes resolving by means of mediation, expert determination, arbitration and litigation for major infrastructure projects in Hong Kong and overseas.

2107 0301

event@onc.hk

www.onc.hk